Help break the barriers between the need and the means to access social skills therapy and recreation services for children and young adults with Asperger Syndrome and High Functioning Autism

March, 2010

Dear Friends,

Did you know that more individuals are diagnosed with autism than ever before...currently 1 in every 91 children? Raising children with autism has a significant impact on family finances. In fact, the Harvard School of Public Health estimates that direct costs for individuals with autism range from $29,000 to $43,000 per person, per year.

Metro Friendship Foundation (MFF) exists to help offset the financial hardships these families face in trying to obtain the social skills therapy their children and young adults require. We need your help.

You are cordially invited to attend
